You have probably heard that every structure like any living person has its own unique energy. So if you can have a personal horoscope, so can a premise that you live or work in. What does a horoscope of a premise look like? How does it work? To get the answers to these questions we met Neeta Sinha, Bollywood's favourite astro-architect. Sinha has been in the field of astro-architecture for the last 20 years.

More about Astro-architecture

Neeta says, "It's a unique science based on the belief that a man's persona affects his environment and vice versa. Like a living person, every structure has its own unique energy. To ensure you have a happy, successful and fulfilled life, one must match his/her horoscope with the spaces around him/her. Astro-architecture is one such research led conviction, which is a fusion of astrology and architecture. It aims to create a balance between living persons and their spaces."

How it works?

Many people confuse astro-architecture with vastu. The former is the application of the laws of astrology to the dimensions of architecture with the purpose of ensuring that the premise brings happiness and prosperity for its occupants. Vastu on the other hand deals with design theory and application. Neeta adds, "The application of the former along with simple, powerful remedies, helps in maintaining a balance between energies, to enhance prosperity and positivity."

Neeta's Journey

A non believer, Neeta was astounded by the predictions made by late Dr Kusuma regarding her life, igniting a powerful desire to learn the science. Her curiosity to know more set her on a quest that led to years of research. Neeta has worked with prominent clients from varied fields. Her list of clients include actors Amitabh Bachchan, Aishay Kumar, Hrithik Roshan, Shah Rukh Khan, Suniel Shetty, Farhan Akhtar, designers Abu Jani and Sandeep Khosla and the Maharani of Jaipur HH Padmini Devi among others.
